

The Rondo Retreat Center is a hospitable homestead consisting of the main house of clapboard and colonial era corrugated iron, as well as five cottages in the same old style, whose proximity to the forest makes for delightful accommodation.

There are fifteen en-suite double rooms, plus three more double rooms that share the large original bathroom in the main house. www.crocodileracers.com

The rooms have individual deco.

The bedrooms, sitting rooms and dining room have all been decorated and furnished with flair using things "old and new" – antique prints and photographs, and local paintings, crafts and fabrics.
