

OI Lentille Hotel is a collection of four private, full-service, fully staffed Houses for the discerning few perched on the flanks of a wooded rock kopje, in the heart of The Sanctuary at OI Lentille Conservancy.

Sanctuary at OI Lentille Hotel is situated at the community-owned Kijabe Group Ranch, on the far northern escarpment of the Laikipia Plateau; with enormous views to the craggy peak of Mt Kenya, the Samburu sacred mountain OI Olokwe, the Matthews Range and the Karisia Hills. This private conservation area, known as The OI Lentille Conservancy, is 14,500 acres of grassy hills and deep valleys, heavily wooded with many acacia species and African olives. Its sandy laghas are bordered by great stands of fig and fever trees.

It is named for OI Lentille, a 1977m hill, from the top of which (an easy scramble) an astonishing panorama unfolds. The Conservancy is home to the endangered African wild dog, greater kudu, leopard, striped and spotted hyena, and klipspringer.

Sanctuary at OI Lentille Hotel Accommodation comprises of four extremely luxurious, fully-staffed, full-service houses. The houses are available either individually or via exclusive use of the whole property. Each architect-designed House echoes a Voice of Africa and is located to ensure your privacy. All the Houses have an abundant mixture of unique courtyards, decks, gardens, and lawns. Some have plunge pools. Bedrooms (each with its own bathroom) in all the Houses (except The Eyrie) can be equipped with either a double bed or with twin beds.
