

Serian Camp Masai Mara

Serian meaning peaceful in the local Masai language is the Charismatic Bush Home of Alex Walker, filmmaker and guide in the Masai Mara. An exclusive wilderness camp set alongside a secluded valley flanking the Mara River, close to the Siria escarpment. The private marquee tents are set in the shade of large Oleadendra and Walburgia trees that cover the site, a tranquil setting that borders one of the finest game reserves in the world.

Serian Camp Masai Mara

The Camp operates throughout the year, the migration of wildebeest covers July through to October, quickly followed by the birthing season from October to March. April and May offer the best opportunities for keen ornithologists and those wishing to enjoy the solitude of the verdant green of the quiet season. www.crocodileracers.com
