

The swish lobby is the highlight of this stylish business hotel - executive rooms are reasonably plush, but the standard rooms are beaten hands down by those at the Castle Royal, which cost half as much. Still, service and facilities are good, disabled access is a breeze and you get great views and excellent food at the Tawa Terrace restaurant on the roof.